

Relations between Nonpublic and Public Schools

CONTACTS--PERSONNEL AND STUDENTS

Representatives of private training schools or other types of nonpublic schools who seek lists of certain students, meetings with school personnel or students, or appearances on career or college day programs, either to discuss the availability of their institutions or programs or to offer scholarships, prizes or awards, shall be asked to accomplish these purposes by advertising their institution or programs through public media.

An exception to the above is in the case of an accredited school, program, or college that is listed in the most recent issue of the Florida Educational Directory or that is listed by regional accreditation associations of schools and colleges.
