GIFTS TO SCHOOL PERSONNEL

Many school patrons in their sincere effort to express appreciation to school employees at various times participate in money-raising campaigns among parents in order to purchase gifts for school employees. These activities are often misunderstood and frequently cause embarrassment to school personnel.

The Board expresses itself as opposed to expensive gifts for school employees on the part of individuals or to solicitation of funds from a group for this purpose and directs that School Board employees shall not accept gifts of more than nominal value from anyone doing business with the schools.
